

Drug expenditures keep rising, but prices are not to blame, page 70.

Features

Business Strategies

62 A Better Way to Build

Mark Twomey and Jonathan Horn, Deloitte Consulting
Despite popular opinion, pharma companies can grow without merging or acquiring.

Commentary

70 What's Really Driving Costs?

Charles Beever, Robert Hutchens, and Heather Burns, Booz Allen Hamilton
Third-party payment systems erode personal accountability in health-care consumption—but there's an alternative.

Training Resources

78 E-Learning FDA Style

FDA and EduNeering have teamed up to offer a virtual university to train both agency personnel and pharma employees.

R&D Strategies

84 Patient Data Come of Age

Jean-Patrick Tsang, Bayser
Comprehensive patient data is available. Pharma just needs to learn how to find—and use—it.

Contents

Fourth Annual

Pharm Exec 50

CATHY SELTZER

Special Report:

42 Pharm Exec's Top 50

L.J. Sellers, Senior Editor
PE's fourth annual report ranks the top 50 companies according to prescription sales and gives an "at a glance" view of each company's growth, R&D spend, and top-selling product. A host of other rankings—best-selling products, fastest-growing companies, and promotional spend—are included.

Cover by Cathy Seltzer

Contents continued on page 12

Contents continued

NEWS

- 110 Kessler Joins the PR Biz
- 111 Marketing Canadian Drugs
- 112 Corporate Free Speech
- 114 Physicians are Good Sports

WINDOWS

- 111 People
- 114 Launches
- 116 Market Pulse
- 116 Accounts in Action
- 118 Awards, Conference Capsule

COLUMNS

- 120 Patient Forum
- 122 Case Study
- 124 Agency Forum
- 126 Commentary
- 128 Industry Insider

FEATURES

- Journals
- 130 The P's and Q's of Publication Planning
Wendy Balter, et al.
If they don't coordinate their efforts, companies are missing an opportunity to build their brands.
- Medical Animation
- 138 3-D Marketing
Edward Perper, MD
Medical animation can help demystify pharma's products.
- Sales
- 146 To Sell to a Doctor, Think Like a Doctor
Michael Kessler, MD
Instead of complaining about having only two minutes with physicians, sales reps should learn how to use them.

Features cont.

- R&D Strategies
- 94 Predictive Modeling
Joe Chimera, BioSignia
Pharma companies can use synthesis analysis to improve key decisions about product lifecycles.
- Human Resource Strategies
- 102 Do's and Don'ts of Downsizing
Susan Grant and Carol Cherkis
With early planning, pharma companies can consolidate in a way that is better for the "laid off," the "survivors," and the stockholders.

Departments

- 22 World Watch
The industry takes heat on three separate fronts: DTC ads, public opinion, and states rights.
- 36 Washington Report
Spotlight on Medication Safety
Jill Wechsler
- 40 Euro Report
Out of Many, One
Sarah Houlton, PhD
- 160 Excutive Edge
When Less is More
Josh Weinstein
- 150 People Update
- 156 Calendar

PE's Successful Sales Management supplement highlights incentives, training programs, and much more.

Columns

- 14 From the Editor
The Riddle of Risk
Patrick Clinton,
Editor-in-Chief
- 18 At Issue
IP for Drug Document
Systems
Donald Piper and
Michael Umen, PhD
- 34 Investment Insight
Managing Start-Up Risk
Anders Dahlstrom
- 170 Back Page
Back to the Pharmacist
Karl Schroff

Services

- 162 Professional Services
- 158 Advertisers