

PharmExec
50

COVER STORY

Pharma's
Top 50

L.J. Sellers

Senior Editor

Highest sales? Top products? Fastest growth? It's all right here in our fifth annual ranking.

60

1. PFIZER 2. GLAXOSMITHKLINE 3. MERCK 4. JOHNSON & JOHNSON 5. AVENTIS 6. ASTRAZENECA 7. NOVARTIS 8. BRISTOL-MYERS SQUIBB 9. WYETH 10. ELI LILLY 11. ABBOTT LABS 12. ROCHE 13. SANOFI-SYNTHELABO 14. BOEHRINGER INGELHEIM 15. AMGEN 16. TAKEDA 17. SCHERING-PLOUGH 18. SCHERING AG 19. BAYER 20. SANKYO 21. Eisai 22. YAMANOUCHI 23. NOVO NORDISK 24. MERCK KGAA 25. TEVA 26. BAXTER 27. AKZO NOBEL 28. FUJISAWA 29. DAIICHI 30. GENENTECH 31. SHIONOGI 32. FOREST LABS 33. PURDUE PHARMA 34. SOLVAY 35. SERONO 36. ALTANA 37. ALLERGAN 38. SCHWARZ PHARMA 39. KING 40. OTSUKA 41. GENZYME 42. WATSON 43. TANABE SEIYAKU 44. BIOGEN IDEC 45. ALCON LABS 46. MYLAN LABS 47. SHIRE 48. KYOWA 49. CHIRON 50. ONO

“Jumpers in this year’s ranking include: Amgen (20 to 15), Teva (30 to 25), Forest Labs (38 to 32), Serono (39 to 35), Schwarz Pharma (48 to 38), and Genzyme (50 to 41).”

Features

Deal Making

Dangerous Liaisons

Michael D. Lam
Associate Editor

Why do so many biotech deals blow up? The first of two parts.

72

Strategy

Early Warning

Leonard Fuld
Fuld & Company

Preparing for a tsunami means riding the wave instead of being swept away.

82

Training

Partners in Learning

Patrick Clinton
Editor-in-Chief

Increasingly, when pharma needs training, it turns to colleges and universities.

88

Regulatory Issues

Risk Management Mandate

Lou Morris
Lou Morris & Associates,

FDA says every drug needs a plan for managing risk.

98

Book Excerpt

The Longest Search

Merrill Goozner

How Eugene Goldwasser and Epo gave birth to the biotech revolution.

112

Global Industry

Growing Pains

Todd Clark
VOI Consulting

For pharma, the European Union's expansion won't pay off for at least a decade.

130

Promotions

Surveying the Messaging Landscape

Michael Goodman
Goodman Associates

Monitoring promotions keeps marketers competitive.

142

Marketing to Professionals

The Art of Advertorials

Charlene Prounis
Corbett Accel

They look like articles, but they work like ads—and they're crucial in sending a complex science message.

152

News & Analysis

Leading Indicators

News

Prior authorization upheld in Michigan » New microbicides for AIDS » The fight over generic HIV drugs » Keeping biotech out of the hands of terrorists » Revving up research in the UK » Mad cow disease in the US

19

Data

Where drugs cost most » Buying prescriptions online » Estimating the benefit of discount cards

28

Thought Leaders

Healthpoint's Steve Clark explains how dermatology got under his skin.

34

Washington Report

The push is on to assess the cost-effectiveness of drugs.

Jill Wechsler

38

European Report

The EU says no to Omnitrop, the first biogeneric.

Sarah Houlton, PhD

42

Transitions

Carl Feldbaum of BIO on biotech's future—and his.

44

Legal Forum

Are authorized generics legal?

Robert Reznick

50

Toolkit

Pipeline optimization gets (finally) practical.

Lewis Coopersmith and James Arvesen

56

Strategy & Tactics

Direct to Consumer

Four new studies try to measure the ROI of DTC. And what they have to say is mostly good news.

Joanna Breitstein

167

Marketing to Professionals

The trick to getting the most out of medical liaisons is to realize they're not salesmen—they're your intelligence service.

Jane Chin and Ben Gilad

MSL Institute and Academy of Competitive Intelligence

172

Public Relations

Think press releases aren't regulated? Think again.

Wayne Pines
APCO Worldwide

176

Alternative Media

Jeff Hazelton of BioLucid discusses how animation can improve pharma communications.

182

Meetings

One of these days, OIG is going to show up and demand your continuing medical education records. Here's how to be ready.

Kevin McMurty

Princeton Partners

186

Insights

From the Editor

Pharma's job used to be healing. Soon it will be healing and improving. That changes everything.

Patrick Clinton

14

Back Page

Waiting for the Larry King moment, and other matters of (re)import.

Jane Sarasohn-Kahn

Think-Health

210

Resources

Advertisers Index

206

People Update

192

Calendar of Events

196

Editorial Guidelines

204

Contacts

206