OUTSOURCING and Consulting Services

AAIPharma Services Corp.

Corporate Description

AAIPharma Services provides pharma and biotech companies with drug product development and contract manufacturing services. Our clients may select specific services or a complete development package. Our services include analytical and microbiological testing, formulation development of both sterile and solid dosage forms, contract manufacturing of clinical and commercial drug products, clinical packaging and distribution and a suite of oral drug delivery options our customers can use to optimize the pharmacokinetics of their molecules. We draw on our 30-year history as a drug product development company to help our customers migrate the increasingly complex path of drug development.

Major Services

AAIPharma Services has expertise in formulation, manufacturing and analytical chemistry with capabilities that include both small molecule and biopharmaceuticals. Our product development know-how enables our customers to bring a pharmaceutically elegant, stable dosage form forward to begin toxicology and subsequent clinical testing.
