Rachel Baggaley

COORDINATOR, TESTING, PREVENTION AND POPULATIONS, DEPARTMENT FOR GLOBAL HIV, HEPATITIS AND STI PROGRAMMES, WHO, SWITZERLAND

Rachel Baggaley has led and coordinated HIV testing and prevention activities for WHO since 2012. Throughout her work on HIV she has focused on key populations, recognizing the need to increase community-led services to achieve better coverage and access, and challenge stigma, discrimination and punitive laws to achieve lasting impact in the HIV response.

Meg Doherty

DIRECTOR, DEPARTMENT OF GLOBAL HIV, HEPATITIS AND STI PROGRAMMES, WHO, SWITZERLAND

Meg Doherty has more than 25 years of experience working in HIV and infectious diseases; this includes leading WHO's normative and programmatic work focused on expanding HIV treatment to all and reducing inequalities in access to the most effective antiretroviral drugs for people living with HIV.

Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus

DIRECTOR-GENERAL, WHO, SWITZERLAND

Dr Tedros is the first person from the African Region to serve as WHO's chief technical and administrative officer. Prior to his election as WHO Director-General, he served as Ethiopia's Minister of Foreign Affairs from 2012–2016.

Ren Minghui

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR-GENERAL, UNIVERSAL HEALTH COVERAGE / COMMUNICABLE AND NONCOMMUNICABLE DISEASES, WHO, SWITZERLAND

Ren Minghui oversees a complex portfolio of technical programmes covering HIV, viral hepatitis, tuberculosis, malaria, neglected tropical diseases, sexually transmitted infections, noncommunicable diseases, mental health and substance use. He currently represents WHO on the boards of the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, TB and Malaria, UNAIDS, and UNITAID.

Martina Pennazato

PEDIATRIC HIV LEAD, DEPARTMENT OF GLOBAL HIV, HEPATITIS AND STI PROGRAMMES, WHO, SWITZERLAND

An infectious disease specialist, Martina Pennazato has spent more than 15 years contributing to clinical research and developing global policies on pediatric HIV. Over the past 6 years she has led WHO's work on pediatric treatment and care and contributed to a number of global initiatives to improve access to HIV services for children living with HIV.

Giovanni Ravasi

ADVISOR, HIV/STI CARE AND TREATMENT, PAN AMERICAN HEALTH ORGANIZATION, UNITED STATES

Giovanni Ravasi is a medical doctor specialized in infectious diseases and public health. Since 2008, he has worked as a Regional Advisor on HIV and sexually transmitted infections at the Pan American Health Organization, the regional office of WHO.

Soumya Swaminathan

CHIEF SCIENTIST, WHO, SWITZERLAND

A pediatrician from India, Soumya Swaminathan is a globally recognized researcher on tuberculosis and HIV with 30 years of experience in clinical care and research. She has worked throughout her career to translate research into impactful programmes.

Lara Vojnov

DIAGNOSTICS ADVISOR, DEPARTMENT OF GLOBAL HIV, HEPATITIS AND STI PROGRAMMES, WHO, SWITZERLAND

As a Diagnostics Advisor, Lara leads normative guidance development and country support for HIV diagnostics, including viral load and early infant diagnosis as well as laboratory quality and development.

Teodora Elvira Wi

MEDICAL OFFICER, DEPARTMENT OF GLOBAL HIV, HEPATITIS AND STI PROGRAMMES, WHO, SWITZERLAND

Teodora is leading the development of WHO's guidelines on sexually transmitted infections (STIs), addressing antimicrobial resistance in STIs and facilitating the development of new STI treatment and diagnostics. She has more than 25 years of experience in HIV and STI programming for key populations.
