

Royal Thai Government

Good practice on women offenders

Monday 23 May, 1.10 – 2.00pm, Conference Room M6

This side-event will focus on the treatment of women offenders and women prisoners in different regions and reflect on the importance of the UN Bangkok Rules.

The expert panel will share good practices on the implementation of the UN Bangkok Rules, through gender-sensitive approaches.

New research report by Linklaters LLP for Penal Reform International will be presented at the side-event.

For more information, contact
Olivia Rope at orope@penalreform.org

Opening remarks

Dr. Kittipong Kittayarak

Executive Director, Thailand Institute of Justice

Research and implementation of gender-specific community service and probation orders in Kenya

Andrea Huber, Penal Reform International

Responses to cases where women kill their abusers

Verity Doyle, Linklaters LLP, London

Gender-specific drug policy reform in Argentina

Luciana Pol, Centro de Estudios Legales y Sociales
(member of the International Drug Policy Consortium)

Q&A

Moderation by: Kimmeth Edgar

Quaker Representative to the United Nations