Our Chosen Charities this year:

The Stem Cell Unit at Treliske Hospital

The Stem Cell Transplant Service at Treliske provides treatment for patients with Myeloma and Lymphoma. What makes the service unique is that it does this in conjunction with Derriford Hospital in Plymouth and Torbay Hospital. The three sites are regulated as a single entity and work together as the Southwest Stem Cell Programme.

The treatment is a long, complex process with a lot of associated regulation around send people away for this kind of treatment. Because of Treliske's unique programme, they can treat patients locally with their chemotherapy and then when they achieve remission, they harvest their stem cells and send them to Plymouth where they are stored in liquid nitrogen. A few weeks later, the patient is sent to Derriford for a final chemotherapy session and the stem cells are then re-introduced and the patient returns to Cornwall.

Man Down Cornwall

Man Down is a Cornwall based non-profit Community Interest Company. They provide informal peer-support talking groups all over Cornwall for men with mental health concerns. Believing that "together we can end the stigma and reduce the number of male suicides in Cornwall. You are not alone."
