Remnants is all about applied restrictions: each stool had to fit within the same small dimensions, and each was made using only materials that could be found in the studio.

Composed of leftover materials that have been floating around, in some cases, for years – aluminum tubing, foam, polyethylene sheeting, a bathtub mat, Garolite, a scrap of leather – each stool is a truly unique object.

The accompanying photos, conceived and shot by Luca Venter, situate the Remnants in their primordial ooze: the scrap piles and dusty shelves of our studio.
