RELEASE 6: RECEPTION

"In Kristen Wentrcek and Andrew Zebulon's RECEPTION, the Twin decamps to a further field, offered as a condition of existence that traverses the boundaries of anatomy and institutional architecture and design. Within the garage space of Driveway, an occasional summer gallery in Rockaway Beach, the Twin is both room and occupant; an abstraction and an embodied, inhabitable, reality—reflections that face one another and find themselves joined in an infinite mirror."

-Maya Lydia Bushell, "Us Back At Us"

RECEPTION, conceived and assembled for Driveway Gallery and presented here as RELEASE 6, presents a series of portraits—etched into Corian and framed in coal-impregnated resin—alongside twin polyurethane foam sofas. Above, ad hoc mirrored lighting illuminates the space. Flanking the sofas are magazine racks that hold the show's publication.
