False Creek Ferries

The Narrated Harbour Tour was introduced last summer, operated on new electric ferries. These vessels were recently added to the fleet and are only available for this tour. The tour is designed to last 1-hour, during which unique perspectives of False Creek and insights into its rich history and geography are provided by the guide on board. It is an intimate experience, with a maximum capacity of 12 passengers per trip. Seats can be booked for $30 per person, or for a more private experience, the entire boat can be reserved for $300. All bookings are made through the official website based on the most up-to-date availability.

Meeting Location: False Creek Ferries dock at Granville Island.

Talaysay Tours

The Salish Sea & Me Tour is designed to highlight the deep connection the Coast Salish peoples have with the Salish Sea, which has shaped their culture, identity, and way of life. This 1-hour walking tour begins at Stanley Park and, if timed correctly with low tide, can include a scavenger hunt activity on the beach, developed with guidance from a marine biologist. Indigenous stewardship, marine ecosystems, and the interconnectedness of ocean life are explored, while emphasizing advocacy for environmental responsibility and Indigenous rights. Through the inclusion of these values, progress toward sustainability, climate resilience, and reconciliation can be continued.

Availability: Monday – Thursday, at 10:00 AM and 1:00 PM, with custom times offered for private and group tours.

Vancouver has long enjoyed tremendous acclaim for our culinary scene and the MICHELIN Guide Vancouver further elevates the city's reputation as a global dining destination. The MICHELIN Guide offers something for everyone, for every occasion and in every price bracket.

Annalena

1809 West 1st Avenue | CONTEMPORARY $$$$

Beneath Annalena's unassuming exterior lies a refined dining experience, where a seasonally inspired tasting menu shines from start to finish.

Barbara

305 East Pender Street | CONTEMPORARY $$$$

Chef Patrick Hennessy spent time at many top spots, including Eleven Madison Park in New York, but he is clearly at home at Barbara.

Burdock & Co

2702 Main Street | CONTEMPORARY $$$$

This Mount Pleasant charmer straddles a corner of Main Street in an area rich with top spots, but Burdock & Co stands out with its rustic appeal and Chef Andrea Carlson's farm-to-table cooking.

iDen & QuanJuDe Beijing Duck House

2808 Cambie Street | CHINESE $$$$

It has a pedigree that traces back to Beijing from 1864, but the latest outpost in Vancouver proves that QuanJuDe hasn't lost any of its luster.

Kissa Tanto

263 East Pender Street | JAPANESE $$$$

Inspired by Tokyo's 1960s jazz cafés, Kissa Tanto blends Japanese and Italian cuisines in a moody, art-filled space, serving inventive dishes like miso-yolk tatarin and plum wine-soaked tofu tiramisu.

Masayoshi

4376 Fraser Street | JAPANESE $$$$

Chef Masayoshi Baba brings Japan's luxurious, jewel-box sushi counters to Vancouver with this eponymous restaurant.

Okeya Kyujiro

1038 Mainland Street | JAPANESE $$$$

An immersive, candlelit omakase where ceremony and craft take center stage, featuring premium seasonal seafood, and exquisite dishes like crab chawanmushi, tempura sandbar fish, and uni served two ways.
