

JUNIOR CONSULTANT (F/M/D)

BERLIN | HAMBURG | REMOTE

_WHO WE ARE

Back in the days, the most powerful Kings and Queens were not only advised by smart and loyal ministers. On each court, there was a jester who spoke the truth. Inspired the Emperor. And helped the ministers to communicate difficult messages.

We are modern-day jesters. The misfits among the consultants. The ones with the ideas you have not heard a hundred times. The radical solutions. Always communicating in a charming and elegant way.

We enable leaders to break old patterns of thinking and acting. We inspire, challenge, and transform current thinking with daring ideas and the will to make them happen. We tear down the laws of old industries, technological limits, and cultural habits to create the truly unseen. We don't optimize. We think radical.

We are honored to have a strategic partnership with McKinsey & Company. Jointly, we can offer our clients the best of two worlds.

_WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN

Learn one on one from top creative minds and experienced McKinsey consultants

Work for blue-chip clients as well as disruptive attackers across all industries

Gain international exposure across different markets, cultures, and continents

Have a highly challenging job that fosters and rewards creative, radical thinking

Do not waste your time on politics, routines, and barriers you might know from large corporations – and traditional consultancies

Be part of a team of like-minded thinkers who believe that together they can solve any problem

REMEMBER: WE ARE NOT PLAN B IF YOU CAN'T GET A JOB AT THE BIG THREE. WE ARE PLAN A.

_YOUR JOB

Your job is to consult clients to invent and do the new. In one-to-one contact and together with JESTER leadership, colleagues, and clients. At the same time, we want people who help us to further build and improve JESTER.

JUNIOR CONSULTANT (F/M/D)

_YOUR PROFILE

You are an exceptionally creative person and even if you've just entered the workforce, you dare to imagine creative solutions for today's and tomorrow's business. Business creativity comes in different shapes and from different sources: the way you look at data, a new use of technology, a surprising perspective on society, or experience from artistic activities.

You possess a high level of empathy, courage, and optimism. You have a natural drive to challenge the status quo. You enjoy finding ways out of complicated situations. You think like an entrepreneur. You can "own the room".

You are skilled in common presentation tools and if not, you can master them in no time. You are fluent in English and can express yourself verbally and in writing, discuss, argue, and fight passionately for the right thing.

You are a team player through and through. You value other opinions and other ways of thinking because embracing diversity is the only way to create something truly new. You are eager to learn, but not afraid to teach the old guys a lesson.

You have a college degree or you do not have one. We do not tick boxes but are eager to get to know you, understand what you did so far and how you can help us to make JESTER better.

_YOUR BENEFITS

You join a young consultancy, born in the pandemic, with a lot of momentum. You become part of an organization that grows faster than any of its peers. And so will you, because at JESTER a constant stream of challenging high-level projects meets the chance to build up a new consulting company at a very early stage. On the one hand, you join a fast-paced start-up, on the other hand, this very company is a strategic partner of McKinsey & Company, the world's most prestigious strategy consulting firm. For consultants, JESTER is the most exciting place to be right now.

You work directly with the highly experienced founder team and McKinsey & Company as our strategic partner. Also, you will work with our distinguished creative panel, consisting of some of the most creative, renowned people in their respective fields, be it cooking, art, music, or tech.

Obviously, you get a competitive salary + performance-based bonuses. Plus, a high degree of freedom how/from where/... you work. We manage results, not processes. Also, we will make one of your big wishes in life come true. Like, literally. You tell us what you would love to do, and we will make it happen (most likely).
