Camino de Santiago

The Camino de Santiago is the most famous hike in the world. It's a pilgrimage that began in the 9th century to the grave of Saint James, one of the twelve apostles. Although the Camino traditionally has religious significance, active enthusiasts have come to appreciate it for its beautiful landscape.

There are many routes and ways of the Camino. However, the French way or el Camino Francés is recognized as one of the most popular routes and undeniably the most beautiful. We will start in O'Cebreiro, the gateway to Galicia.

Camino Francés

The Camino Francés is one of the nine major Camino de Santiago routes.

The 800KM of trail has inspired many artists, writers, and filmmakers – such as Paulo Coelho in his bestseller The Pilgrimage and 2010's Hollywood movie The Way starring Martin Sheen.

The French Way is a spectacular route, traversing both mountainous and flat terrain. You will have the opportunity to journey across the most remarkable section - the last 156 kilometers.

Why Start in O'Cebreiro?

The third highest point on the entire Camino, O'Cebreiro treats pilgrims to one of the route's most beautiful vistas and layered sunsets. It is the gateway to Galicia, the final region of the Camino; passing through mountains, valleys, and rolling hills to the final goal at Santiago de Compostela. The village's sweet round granite homes with thatched roofs preserve its medieval appearance and its earlier Celtic roots. The intimate 9th-century church is the site of a famous miracle.

Camino Stages

STAGE 01

O'Cebreiro - Triacastela

We will start our walk in O'Cebreiro, home to pallozas (straw-roofed houses) and the sanctuary of the Eucharistic miracle. O'Cebreiro is the first village in Galicia, it has just over 1,200 inhabitants and sits at 1,293 meters (4242 ft). On our way to Triacastela we will go through some ups and downs until we will reach Alto de Poio, the highest peak of the Camino in Galicia at 4380ft with amazing views. It's all downhill from there through forests and the river valley. Most of the walking today is on paths and tracks with only a small amount on minor roads. There are lots of places for food and water along the way.

STAGE 02

Triacastela - Sarria

We will start our walk in Triacastela. It gets its name from the three castles that once stood here, none of which exist today. This stage has two route options, the San Xil and the Samos route. Both options are beautifully mystical. San Xil is 7km shorter while Samos is flatter and quieter and leads to the Benedictine monastery, one of the largest and oldest Galician monastic foundations, whose origins date back to the sixth century.

STAGE 03

Sarria - Portomarín

We will start our walk in Sarria. Sarria marks the last 100 km until Santiago. Most of today's walk will be through wooded areas and passing through many villages including Barbadelo, Peruscallo, Morgade, Ferrerios, A Pena, Mercadoiro and Vilcha. At the end of the journey, we will cross the Miño river into Portomarín, a riverside village.

Camino Stages

Portomarín - Palas de Rei

We will start our walk in Portomarín, a town that dates back to the Romans. Many structures you see in Portomarín were moved block by block up the mountain from the old village to the current village. The old village was flooded in the 1960s to build the Belesar reservoir. This stage will take you through the region of Monterroso and Palas de Rei. This stage takes you mostly through paved roads and consists of a steady uphill climb.

STAGE 05

Palas de Rei - Arzúa

We will start our walk in Palas de Rei. During this stage, you will leave the Lugo province and enter A Coruña. Today's trek will be long but mostly flat through wooded trails. We will pass through Melide, a great stop for some Galician gastronomy. In Melide the Primitive Way joins the French Way filling the town with incredible Camino energy.

STAGE 06

Arzúa - O Pedrouzo

We will start our walk in Arzúa. This stage is short and almost flat. During the second half of the stage, be careful, as you will need to cross the main road several times. This stage takes you through quiet forest paths with eucalyptus groves and sleepy villages.

STAGE 07

O Pedrouzo - Santiago

We will start our walk in O Pedrouzo. The final stage of the Camino is filled with energy and emotion. Santiago de Compostela awaits the pilgrims' arrival after a 19km trajectory. Monte de Gozo is the first place from where you can see the spires of the Cathedral. From here, you descent to the city where you'll be able to witness this UNESCO World Heritage Site up-close. Marvel at the architecture and relish the wonderful atmosphere in this cultural and spiritual mecca.

Once the trip date approaches, we will send your personal Camino brochure with relevant information about your trip including itinerary, packing list, recommendations, further information, Camino tips, advice, and more.
