

Bitter Babe

Bitter Babe is a multidisciplinary artist and DJ who emerged from Miami's underground and is now based in Paris. Her sound is rhythm-led and club-focused, driven by percussive tension, bass weight, and a playful sense of momentum, constantly evolving beyond fixed genre boundaries.

Touring internationally since 2023, she has appeared at festivals and venues including Dekmantel, Horst, and Panorama Bar. Her practice moves fluidly across club culture, sound design, and visual worlds, notably through a collaboration with Diesel for Crack Magazine that explored the intersection of music, fashion, and futurism. Alongside her DJ work, Bitter Babe hosts Obsidian Dreams, her residency on NTS Radio, where she curates immersive, atmospheric sound journeys that mirror her evolving musical language.

A resident of Berlin's Climate of Fear, she has shared the booth and collaborated with artists such as John Talabot, while DJ Mag selected her b2b with Kia as one of the top mixes of 2025. In 2025, she premiered her live show at MUTEK Montréal, and in 2026 she is set to present her live project at Pitch Festival in Australia, while continuing to work in the studio with new music scheduled for release throughout the year.
