

Environmental Policy

The Holmes Wood Consultancy Ltd recognises the impact that both our business and the day-to-day running of our offices can have on the environment as well as the environment of those with whom we share it.

We are committed to carrying out our business activities using principled methods to help us positively manage our environmental footprint. We aim to regularly review and, if appropriate, look to reduce our impact on the environment, improving our processes and closing our environmental loop wherever possible. We recognise the choices that face us as designers and are committed to avoiding the use of materials, processes and suppliers that negatively impact the environment.

Holmes Wood are committed to

- Promoting sustainable transport through our green travel policy, this covers both our business travel and the day-to-day commute by our staff.
- Ensuring that all staff are aware of our environmental policy and know that they are mutually responsible for ensuring positive savings across the company.
- Continual, mutually beneficial improvement of the Studio's environmental processes led by monitoring of outputs, staff led initiatives and the interrogation of our supply chain.
- Monitoring our energy usage and implementing 'smart use' where possible
- Recognising and adhering to all environmental law and legal practice relating to our company and the way we operate and conduct our business.
- Encouraging a sustainable process, design and procurement through a programme of CPDs and knowledge sharing across the studio.
- Ensuring that any subcontractors or suppliers that we work with take account of our sustainability policy and work in an environmentally sensitive way.
- Expecting similar environmental standards to our own from all third parties involved in our business services.
