1 CAWST

CAWST, the Centre for Affordable Water and Sanitation Technology, is a nonprofit organization based in Canada. We provide training and consulting to organizations that work directly with populations in developing countries that lack access to clean water and basic sanitation. CAWST "walks beside" over 500 organizations — government agencies, community groups, and local and international nongovernmental organizations (NGOs) of all sizes — in many countries. We work with them as they develop their capacities to deliver water and sanitation programs locally. CAWST provides training in developing countries for organizations and agencies who implement water, sanitation and hygiene projects
