HEY, I'M RHEA.

Coming from an industrial background in steel shipbuilding in Scotland, I've developed a broad architectural oeuvre without any fixed specialization - moving freely between design and production, or industrial and residential work.

With more than twenty years of experience, I've dealt with different scales & types of building projects, including heritage and overseas projects in the U.K., Spain & Qatar. I started off my Canadian journey living & working in remote Northern British Columbia for a structural engineering company with many projects scattered further in the remote wilderness - often involving long drives or even sometimes a boat or helicopter.

I'm a team player who knows how to build and maintain strong relationships with both my holo-blok colleagues or external stakeholders. I have a track record of adaptability, being highly responsive to change and can prioritize, then organize tasks, to meet critical deadlines. I believe everyone, throughout the complicated building process should be able to come out 'winners'. All team members have something to contribute to that process, especially clients, to produce essential & purposeful architecture.

I still feel relatively new to Edmonton, so in my free time I often enjoy exploring the city or the great outdoors of its extensive River Valley system of parks, riding one of my electric unicycles.
