

- WIB report 2025

- by Dominique

The website continues to exist, it gets between 150 to 200 visitors a month, and a new section on Buddhism and the environment is being created by Munisha.

However, there is more to say. For the first six months of last year we did not know whether we would have funds to continue so work more or less stopped since people did not want to risk not being paid. Work resumed in September after the summer, which means that activity was restricted to only a few months of the year.

We did receive the grant we had requested from Khyentse Foundation and this is what enables us to continue. However, you will remember that it was to have a matching grant from the EBU and we have not received this. I am asking you now exactly how you wish me to explain to Khyentse Foundation that the matching grant does not exist. I will have to fill in the report form soon.
