

DELGROSSO FOODS, INC & FRANCO HARRIS IMMACULATE MARINARA SAUCE

We are excited to announce a limited time release of "Franco's Immaculate Marinara" to honor NFL football legend Franco Harris - on the 50th anniversary of the "Immaculate Reception," voted the #1 play in NFL history!

Franco's Immaculate Marinara is a special-edition label with a charitable focus of "50 cents per jar" to charity. Available for a limited time at the following retailers:

Hometown Market (all locations),
Martin's (Altoona locations), &
Giant (2121 S. Atherton St. State College).

Franco Harris visited Bellwood Hometown Market on Friday, October 28th, signing jars of the Immaculate Marinara Sauce.

Lifestyle Habits That Can Reduce Your Health Risks

We hear a lot of the same recommendations when it comes to maintaining good health. So much so, that you may even tune them out sometimes. As boring as many of them may be, these seemingly insignificant habits can really pay off in the long-run when it comes to your wellbeing.

Here are some healthy lifestyle habits to focus on to reduce your health risks:

Quit tobacco

According to the American Cancer Society, a year after you quit smoking, your risk of heart disease is cut in half. Five years after that, the same goes for your risk⁶ of cancer.

Get sufficient restful sleep

Aim to get at least seven hours of sleep each day. Insufficient sleep has been linked⁷ to abnormal levels of leptin and ghrelin, the key hormones that directly impact appetite and weight regulation.

Move your body

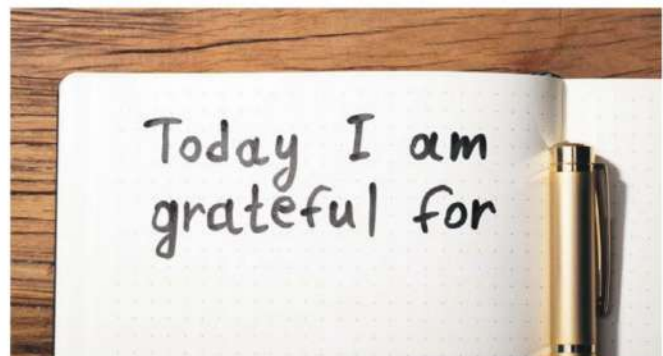

Accumulate at least 150 to 300 minutes of moderate to vigorous physical activity each week. Staying physically active can reduce⁸ your risks for cardiovascular disease, depression, and diabetes.

Be grateful

Expressing gratitude is linked⁹ to lower rates of depression and healthier relationships. Starting a gratitude journal is the easiest way to make gratitude part of your daily life.

Stay connected

Invest in nurturing a supportive network that you can lean on when life feels overwhelming. People who have¹⁰ strong support systems have lower blood pressure and fewer symptoms of depression.

When it comes to creating the conditions for good health, you hold more power than you realize. Focus on building healthy habits to protect your wellbeing and reduce your overall health risks.

THANKSGIVING

Starting now and going forward, holiday gifts will be given via payroll. You were paid a $40.00 holiday bonus on your payroll deposited on 10/28/22. This payroll bonus replaces the grocery gift card you previously received as a holiday gift. Thank you for your hard work and dedication.

- From The DelGrosso Family

STUBBORN DOESN'T SEEM LIKE A STRONG ENOUGH WORD, BUT THAT'S HOW FED OFFICIALS ARE DESCRIBING INFLATION.

Inflation's "stubbornness" has been on full display in recent weeks: First, the Producer Price Index (PPI) showed that costs remain high for producers of goods and services. Then in September's more widely followed Consumer Price Index (CPI) high prices continued to persevere.

To address inflation, the Fed's primary tool is short-term interest rates. As it pushes rates higher, the Fed aims to slow the economy by raising borrowing costs. As economic activity cools, the Fed expects to see the CPI and PPI trend lower.

Professional traders anticipate what will happen with interest rates over the next year. They expect the Fed will have to raise short-term rates to nearly 5% in 2023 to lower inflation.

We know this year has had its ups and downs. Just when it appears to have turned a corner, something else happens, and the financial markets are under pressure again.

You may have heard the old saying: "Don't worry about the horse, just load the wagon." Now is an excellent time to stay focused on what you can control, like your "wagon," and we'll keep an eye on the "horses" in the meantime.
